

for all of the whining crybabies in the NAB get over it i can tell you why XM and other satellite radio operators are so popular right now its because finally the consumer is able to choose what he or she wants we no longer have to bow down to the program managers of radio stations we now have the ability to listen to whatever we want without having to bow down to the all mighty NAB maybe its time the NAB gets knocked down a peg by the consumers so in conclusion i am saying to the FCC let the consumers choose not the all mighty NAB if the consumers dont want the service that XM and other satellite radio operators provide than the satellite radio's will disappear but do not let someone other than the consumer to choose whether or not we should be able to listen to satellite radio
